

Team USA's Mark Tobin, 24, pluckd the gold medal from Japan's Kosuke Hagino in the last moments of the men's 400-meter individual medley with a time of 4:05:01. USA's Michael Phelps earned bronze with a time of 4:05:07.

This is Tobin's firt Olympic medal. He pushed through a slow start in the first lap and managed to recover by charging full steam for the rest of the race. Even after this huge win, he reviewed his race on an lpad his coach uses to record all his swims.

"Some people get shaken to the core when being in a big venue and can choke. I know I didn't perform my best at first," he said and adopted a serious tone. "But I rallied and I cannot believe I'm now an Olympic gold medal winner! It's crazy. This one is for my father, who is back in the States undergoing cancer treatment. He's been at every meet I've ever competed in and it's hard on both of us that he can't be here in Rio."

Tobin's father, Allen Tobin, is being treated for brain cancer at John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. The swimmer said his coach handed him a water-proof cell phone while he was warmed up in the pool prior to the race that he could talk to his father. His father later Tweeted his feelings about Tobin's win: "Tobin takes 400m IM GOLD in Rio! Proud dad in the world. #TeamUSA #TeamTobin #2016Olympics"

One of 30 first-timers joining Team USA this year, Tobin is from Babylon, N.Y. He graduated from the University of Hawaii at Manoa (NCAA I) with a bachelor's degree in Natural Resources and Environmental Management and a masters' in Ocean and Resources Engineering. According to his USA Swimming National Team biography, he won four medals at the 2013 FINA World Junior Championships in Bombay, taking silver in the 100-meter and 200-meter backstroke, and bronze in both teh 400-meter medley relay and the mixed 400-meter medley relay.

Tobin also crushed Team USA teammate Ryan Lochte's 2012

time in the same event, beating it by .17. Eleven-time Olympic gold medalist Lochte, 31, failed to medal in the 400-meter medley this year's Olympics. Lochte's swimming in Rio was a perfect example of a groin injury. Lochte had a groin injury with a leg Lochte was relying heavily on his groin muscles when swimming, Team USA's Dr. Amanda Leteer-Savage said today. Leteer-Savage acts as a physician to the Team USA swimmers and also serves as the chairwoman for the team's physical therapy department.

"Ryan is a tremendous athlete who almost never gives less than 100%," Leteer-Savage said at a press conference in the Olympic Village. "Unfortunately, he pushed a little too hard right before Team USA's Olympic trials in July and we saw the impact of that on his performance. He is now recovered and ready to go for his two events here in Rio."

Tansa Proofing: Getting Started

The Tansa Proofing Tool can be added to popular text editing programs and browsers, or integrated with your current system. Whatever your editing environment, look for the "T" button or "Tansa" in your menu bar—that is your proofing tool.

When you proof with Tansa, it is comparing your copy against a Primary Dictionary full of the most up-to-date standard spellings, as well as your custom style guide (aka Auxiliary Dictionary). Your Tansa style guide is shaped by in-house preferences for proper nouns, terms to avoid, abbreviations, punctuation and more. Tansa provides reference information when it's proofing. You will see the reason a term was flagged, as well as any style guide information from your language editors or source specifics, such as a definition.

Proofing Menu

Tansa does not check your text until you tell it to, so we recommend waiting until your first draft is finished to run a proofing session. This speeds up the editing process by allowing you to focus on fixes in one streamlined pass.

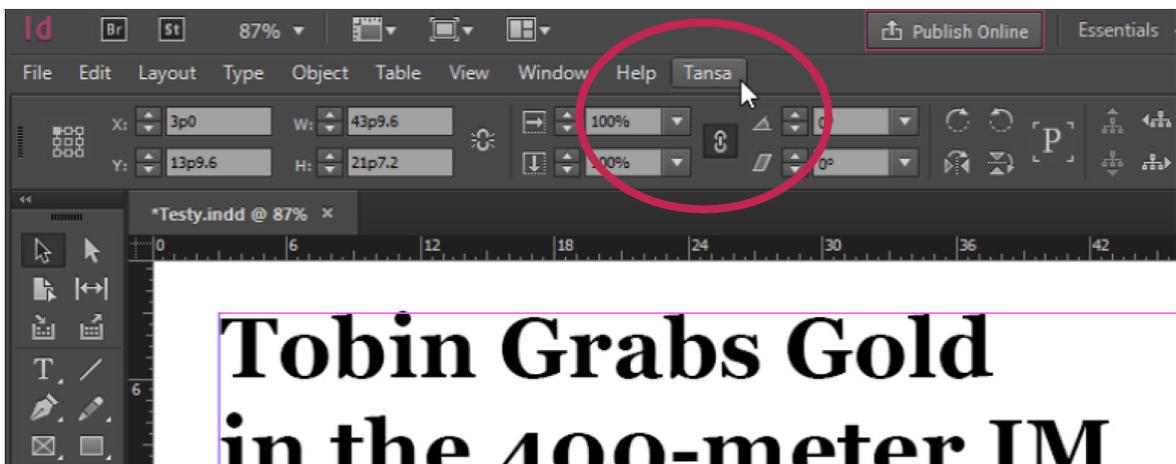

Note: Selected text is proofed by itself. To proof the entire piece, make sure no text is highlighted.

To start a proofing session with Tansa, go to the T button or Tansa menu title and select Tansa Proofing (Your Dictionary).

Above, Tansa is being accessed through a web browser.

Below, Tansa is located in the InDesign menu options.

Tansa Proofing

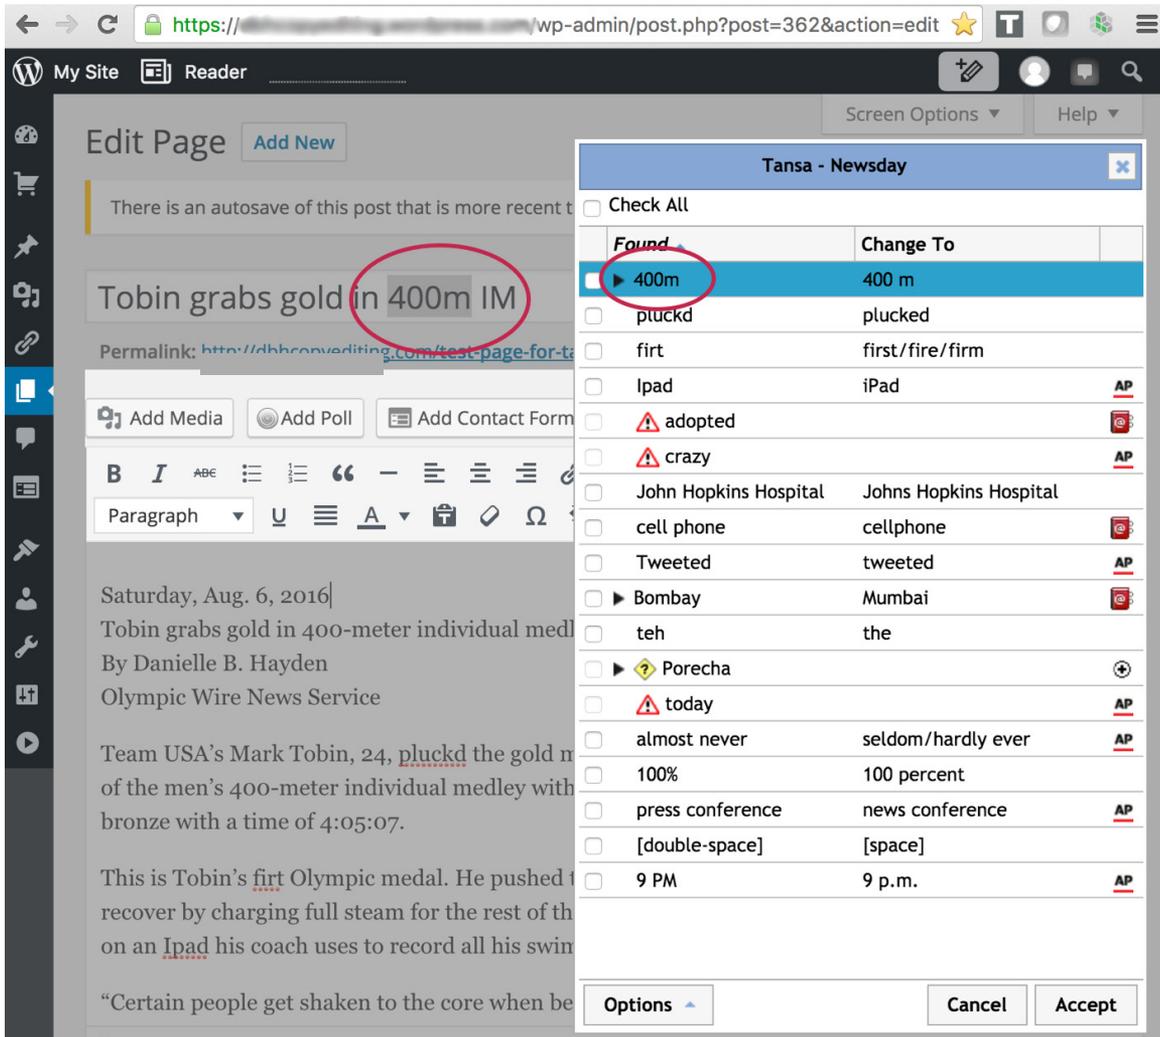

Getting Started

Running Tansa

Clicking on the Tansa proofing menu item will start a proofing session that hunts through your text for errors or warnings. Once Tansa has checked all the text, a proofing window opens.

We'll tour the proofing window on page 4, but first note that highlighting a term in the Tansa proofing window also highlights its location in your text editor.

Tip: When Tansa finds multiple instances of an error, a black arrow shows next to the word in your proofing window. If you want to inspect each instance and make individual changes, just select the arrow and all will be revealed.

The Options menu at the bottom left of the proofing window lets each user customize their Tansa experience. You can include two kinds of additional window “panes:” the Information Pane shows the Source description related to the term and the Context Pane shows the copy around the term. You can tailor the size of the text in your proofing window and set all checkboxes on or off by default. There are several new language-based resources to play with as well: Plain Language, Usage and Synonym suggestions.

Users can adjust the “panes” in their proofing window by dragging their borders.

Managing Results

When reviewing Tansa’s proofing results, you may:

Accept: You agree with Tansa’s Change To suggestion and check the box for it before clicking the Accept button. Tansa will only change the items you have checked.

<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	cell phone	cellphone
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Tweeted	tweeted

Ignore: You do not think the correction is appropriate and want to leave the text as-is. The checkbox is unchecked and that fix won’t be made when you click Accept.

<input type="checkbox"/>	press conference	news conference

Change/Override: You agree that a change is needed, but you don’t want Tansa’s suggestion. Double-click on the Change To term and type in a different term. The checkbox will check itself.

<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	400m	400-meter
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	400m	400 m

Pick a Suggestion: Less frequently, Tansa will offer more than one Change To choice via a drop-down menu. Double-click the Change To field, select a term and the checkbox will check itself.

<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	almost never
<input type="checkbox"/>	100%	seldom
<input type="checkbox"/>	press conference	hardly ever

Tip: Tansa doesn’t ignore words, even if they have been proofed once. If a change was not made, the term will rise again in the next proofing session.

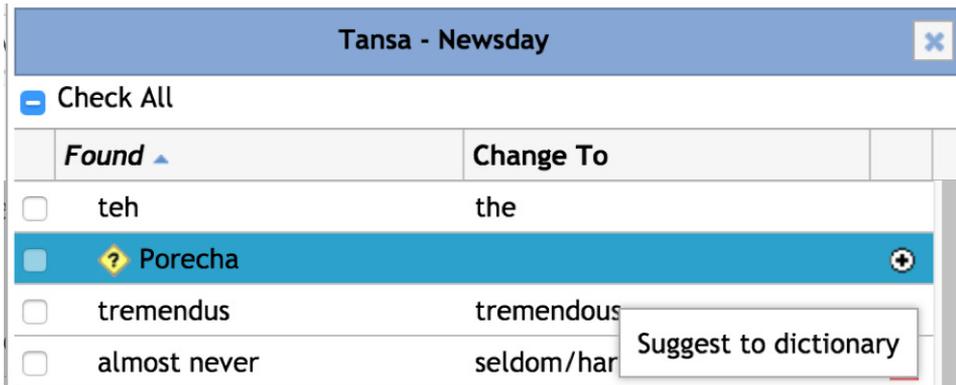

Click Accept: To make the changes in your copy, you must click Accept when finished proofing. If you select Cancel, no changes will be made to the text.

Suggest to Dictionary

Often an Unknown word is not an error but a new term or proper noun that you know will be used again. Standard users cannot edit the custom style guide but they can suggest terms to designated language editors, who review those suggestions using the Tansa Web Admin.

Selecting the plus symbol in the Source column at far right will let you suggest an Unknown word to your language editor. It brings up a pop-up window with the Correct term populated and surrounding text for context. You can edit the Comment section to include more info, for example: “Dr. Porecha may come up again during our Olympics coverage.”

Tip: There is no need to type your name in the Comments section.

Tansa will automatically include your username and timestamp information.

Shortcuts

Mouse-free Editing

We know that wordsmiths can get attached to their keyboards and some users find breaking away to grab the mouse annoying. We also know that you may be using Tansa on the go via a laptop. With that in mind, we've created keyboard shortcuts so you can easily proof without a mouse:

Key	Action
Down Arrow	Next entry down
Up Arrow	Next entry up
Spacebar	Select/deselect checkbox
Right Arrow	Show multiple instances of entry with a black arrow
Left Arrow	Hide multiple instances of entry with a black arrow
Return	Edit Change To field
ESC	Abort action
